OBJECTIVE

The call for abstract is open to all researchers presenting scientific results in the field of oncology. Your application could concern an oral presentation (Rapid Fire Session) and/or a poster presentation (POSTER SESSIONS).

Abstracts selection will be made by the scientific committee.

The abstract should be in English or French.

THEMES

Abstracts correspond to the following themes:

- Progression & Tumor Resistance, Innovative Therapies
- Infections & Immunity
- Nanomedicine, Health Technologies
- Bio-informatics, Modeling
- Prevention, Social Sciences
- Environment, Nutrition & Epidemiology
- Clinical Research

RAPID FIRE SESSIONS

The concept of the Rapid-Fire Session is to give visibility to your scientific contribution and expertise.

When: Rapid Fire Sessions will be held on March 25, 2020.

Who: Rapid Fire speakers will be selected from all the submitted abstracts. Presentations around a similar theme will be gathered.

Duration: 5 minutes. /!\ The timing will be strictly enforced.

Format: 3 slides maximum (in powerpoint or pdf format). /!\ Personal computers cannot be used. You will be invited to send your slides before the Forum.

POSTER SESSIONS

When: Two one-hour sessions will be held on March 25 & 26, 2020.

Duration: Posters will be verbally presented to respective facilitators of the organized sessions. The poster's author will have 3 minutes to present his/her poster.

Format: Poster size must be in portrait and A0 format (84.1 x 118.9 cm), installation will start from 9:00 on March 25, 2020. Display is allowed all along the Forum.

/!\ To locate it in the exhibition area and in the abstract book, each poster will be assigned a number. This number will be communicated upon your arrival at the Forum.

/!\ Posters related to Rapid Fire presentations may be presented during the poster sessions.

A best poster prize will be attributed to each proposed theme. A judging panel will decide on the best scientific posters. An award ceremony, chaired by the Cancéropôle CLARA and the Fondation ARC, will be held at the end of the congress.
